Title: Dreaming Out Loud

According to Christopher, Communities East of the Anacostia River does not have equal access to fresh produce and healthy food choices. He believes that all communities deserve healthy choices; therefore he founded Aya Community Markets to help provide District residents in Wards 7 and 8 with fresh fruits and vegetables, as well as other services to aid in physical, financial and mental health. Aya Community Markets will feature:

- * Live musical performances
- * Fresh produce and baked goods
- * Handmade arts and crafts
- * massage therapy, acupuncture and more.

This community-centered project will provide fresh produce, healthy food choices & economic development to underserved communities who are located in "food deserts." This will be accomplished through farmers markets linked to regional farmers & community gardens. In addition this program engages volunteers & youth (ages 14-21) by building leadership capacity, providing character development & cultivating skills so that they can plan & execute innovative solutions, health outreach and education.

Title: Women Business Owners of Montgomery County

The Women Business Owners of Montgomery County mentors other women businesses; helps develop and grow women businesses in Montgomery County. With membership you can receive a business grant, participate in women entrepreneur exchanges, support, and free help. What sets them apart from other businesses is the fact they focus solely on business development. They also provide certification that is easy; and can be used in a corporate and government setting. They will be having an Empowerment Conference in September. If you would like any further information you can go to their website, which is, www.wbo-mc.com.

Title: April-May Foundation

The April- May Foundation is an organization that campaigns for women and girls whose lives have been adversely affected by sexual assault and sexual abuse. April-May uses art inspired projects to generate broader attention to fight against sexual victimization of females. April-May was derived from the parable "April showers bring May flowers". April represents women's whose abuse left them lost and broken; and May speaks to women who reclaimed their lives and are now survivors. To become aware go to www.aprilmay.org.
